5. Place of the training (classroom training)

The training location for classroom training is specified in the individual training plans regularly at one of KARL MAYER Group's locations. Upon entry to the KARL MAYER Group premises, the participant will be informed separately about the applicable regulations and rules for appropriate behavior of visitors and must observe them.

In individual cases, a different training location can be agreed separately.

6. Program changes and cancellation of trainings by KARL MAYER

A training can be postponed, changed or canceled for good cause. There is good cause in particular, if only a small number of participants (under 4 registered participants until the closing date) is registered, organizational obstacles appear - (illness or loss of a trainer), as well as with events, out of responsibility of KARL MAYER which hinders the training (force majeure, e.g. pandemics).

In case of falling short of the minimum number of 4 training participants, KARL MAYER will endeavor to communicate the postponement or cancellation of the training in due time before the scheduled start of the training. If a training event is cancelled, any participation fee already paid will be refunded. Further claims, in particular claims for damages (such as cancellation fees for travel or hotel reservations), are excluded in the event of a postponement or cancellation, except in cases of willful or gross negligent conduct of KARL MAYER's legal representatives, employees or other vicarious agents.

7. Liability

KARL MAYER shall only be liable for damages incurred insofar as these are based on a breach of an essential contractual obligation or on intentional or grossly negligent conduct on the part of KARL MAYER, its legal representatives or vicarious agents. If an essential contractual obligation is breached due to slight negligence, KARL MAYER 's liability shall be limited to the foreseeable damage typical for the contract. An essential contractual obligation is given in the case of obligations, the fulfillment of which makes the proper execution of the contract possible in the first place or on the compliance with which the participant has relied or could have relied. Any further liability for damages is excluded. Liability for culpable injury to life, limb or health in accordance with the statutory provisions remains unaffected. This also applies to the mandatory liability under the German Product Liability Act (Produkthaftungsgesetz).

8. Copyright

The training materials issued are protected by copyright and may not be reproduced or distributed in any form - not even in part - without the consent of KARL MAYER. KARL MAYER reserves all rights. The training documents are exclusively available to the participants.

Video and/or audio recordings are not permitted for either classroom training or webinars.

9. Data protection and confidentiality

The personal data of the participants (surname, first name and address) required for the processing and implementation of the training events will be processed and used exclusively for the purpose of registration and implementation of the training event. The registration data of the participants will not be passed on to third parties. The registration data will remain with KARL MAYER until the purpose for storing the data no longer applies or until the participant requests KARL MAYER to delete the data or revokes consent to storage. Mandatory legal provisions - in particular retention periods - remain unaffected.

The company undertakes to keep secret for an unlimited period of time all business and trade secrets or information designated as confidential which it becomes aware of on the occasion of the execution of the contract by KARL MAYER. This applies in particular to technological information, insofar as this is not generally known. The company undertakes to oblige the participants to the same degree of confidentiality before the start of the training.
